UNIVERSAL LIGHTING TECHNOLOGIES NAMED AMONG NASHVILLE'S HEALTHIEST EMPLOYERS

Lighting Manufacturer Wins Top Award in Category by Nashville Business Journal

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (January 26, 2012) – The Nashville Business Journal has named Universal Lighting Technologies among the top 20 “Healthiest Employers” in the city and the number one winner in its size category. Headquartered in Nashville, Universal Lighting Technologies is a global leader in ballasts and controls for commercial lighting applications with manufacturing facilities around the world.

The awards were based on surveys conducted by Healthiest Employers, LLC, with a proprietary scoring system based on the recommendations of academic, medical, wellness and business professionals. Criteria included wellness programs for employees, cultural commitment, strategic planning, and reporting and analysis. The Nashville Business Journal honored the 20 finalists and named one winner in each size category based on overall score.

The program was sponsored by BlueCross BlueShield of Tennessee, and the awards ceremony included a keynote address by Nashville Mayor Karl Dean about the importance of the workplace in helping build a healthy community.
